Description

Keith Pattinson Estate Agents are delighted to bring to the market this exceptional three-bedroom, semi-detached stone-built cottage, quietly tucked away along a bridle path in the heart of Carrshield, near Hexham. Situated within an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, the property enjoys breath taking open countryside views.

Originally restored to its natural stone and sympathetically extended approximately 22 years ago, this charming freehold cottage offers spacious and characterful accommodation arranged over three floors.

Set within approximately 0.25 acres, the established gardens extend across three gently terraced levels. They include a seating area, a polytunnel, and a lower section currently used for small livestock. The grounds gently fall away towards the River West Allen.

The accommodation begins with a welcoming country-style dining kitchen, fitted with solid wood units and complementary worktops. An electric AGA, freestanding oven, and dishwasher create a practical yet characterful heart of the home.

From here, the sitting room provides a warm and inviting retreat, centred around a striking stone fireplace with log-burning stove and Clearview stove, while exposed ceiling beams reflect the cottage's heritage and charm.

A second reception hall leads to one of the three double bedrooms, complete with its own en-suite shower room.

To the lower ground floor, there is a further double bedroom; currently used as a study, along with a separate utility room and a WC. This level also benefits from direct access to a patio area.

Stairs from the main sitting room rise to the first floor, where the third double bedroom and a generous three-piece family bathroom are located.

The property benefits from an oil combi boiler, modern double glazing, and a septic tank located within the grounds.

Altogether, Fell View Cottage represents a rare opportunity to acquire a beautifully restored and characterful home in an idyllic Northumberland setting, perfect for those seeking tranquil countryside living without compromising on modern comfort.
