Description

Set within a highly sought-after riverside position bordering the tranquil River Brede, this substantial detached bungalow presents a rare opportunity to create an exceptional waterside home. Enjoying mooring and fishing rights and far-reaching views across open farmland, the property occupies a generous plot and offers immense scope for transformation, with planning permission granted and works already commenced.

Planning permission (Ref: RR/2018/1690/P) allows for the removal of the existing front addition and the creation of an impressive rear extension, together with a new enlarged roof incorporating front and rear dormers and a rear balcony—designed to fully embrace the surrounding landscape and river setting.

Currently arranged to provide a spacious open-plan reception, kitchen and study area, the accommodation includes two double bedrooms, one benefitting from a snug/dressing room, and a contemporary shower room. While requiring full refurbishment and updating, the property already hints at the lifestyle on offer—open, light-filled living spaces with seamless connections to the outdoors.

Outside, the gardens are a particular highlight. The rear garden backs directly onto the river, providing an idyllic setting for al fresco dining, boating and fishing, while the outlook across neighbouring countryside enhances the sense of privacy and escape. Additional features include a detached outbuilding/garage, a summerhouse, and off-road parking for two to three vehicles.

This is an exciting and rare riverside lifestyle project, combining planning certainty, an enviable location and exceptional potential to create a bespoke home in one of the area's most desirable settings.
