Description

A classic red brick four bedroom period property with character features including mosaic and quarry tiled floors, fireplaces and more. There is a wonderful former artist's studio that could be adapted for a variety of uses. The property was formerly the village shop and village hall and could be further developed or split subject to planning permission or just kept as a family home.

The property is just a short walk away from the many village amenities including the railway station with direct links to London (just over an hour) & Birmingham.

It has a hall with a lovely mosaic floor, sitting room with open fireplace, wood floor and panelling, dining room and lounge, large kitchen / breakfast room with quarry tiled floor and a study with French doors to the garden. The cellar has a storage area and WC, there is further WC on the ground floor accessed via a covered walkway linking up the house to the studio and associated rooms, one of which was a stable featuring a Belfast sink.

The former studio can be access through the main house or from a separate entrance from the street. Measuring 15'11 x 26'9 it has a vaulted ceiling and mezzanine storage area.

Stairs rise to the first floor landing and a second set of stairs lead from the main bedroom to the kitchen. There are three further good size double bedrooms and a bathroom.

The private large walled rear garden is very established and has a variety of trees, bushes, plants and flowers. There are two garden stores.
