Description

There is a lot to like about this three bedroom upper flat on Wingrove Avenue. From the attractive period frontage to the generous proportions inside, it is a home with plenty of character and, importantly, a layout that gives you much more space than you might initially expect from a flat.

The main living space is a real feature of the property, providing plenty of room for both comfortable seating and a dining area. Stripped wooden flooring, high ceilings and natural timber doors add warmth and character, while the fitted kitchen provides a practical separate space. There are three bedrooms, giving flexibility for anyone needing a home office, guest room or additional bedroom, together with a bathroom.

For us, however, the position is one of the biggest selling points. Nuns Moor Park is close by and the Town Moor is within easy reach, giving you a huge amount of green space practically on the doorstep. It is a great location for anyone who enjoys walking or simply wants the benefit of open space without giving up the convenience of city living.

Wingrove Avenue is also particularly handy for getting into Newcastle, with regular bus services and the City Centre around 10 minutes away by bus, alongside easy access to local shops, amenities, universities and hospitals.

Character, space and a location that offers a great balance between the city and Newcastle's green spaces make this a property that really deserves to be viewed.
